Section 3 – Trading Restrictions & Risk Policies

Article 8 – Permitted Strategies

All common styles like day trading and swing trading are allowed. However, arbitrage between accounts, latency abuse, martingale, and hedging across accounts or brokers are strictly prohibited.

Article 9 – Profit Concentration

If more than 20% of total profit comes from one or a few trades, the trader's performance may be considered invalid.

Article 10 – Volume Consistency

Large fluctuations in trade volume compared to a trader's average are considered a violation.

Article 11 – Breach of Account Parameters

Exceeding daily or max drawdown limits, or failing to meet minimum trading days or other rules, may result in account suspension or termination.

Article 12 – Drawdown Calculations

- Daily Drawdown: A fixed % of initial balance, includes all intraday P&L.
- Max Drawdown: The maximum equity loss from the initial balance, including open and closed losses.

Article 13 – Stop-Loss Usage

Not mandatory, but highly recommended as a risk management tool.

Article 14 – Holding Positions Overnight or on Weekends

Allowed, but the trader is responsible for risks due to unpredictable market gaps during these periods.

Article 15 – Trading During News Events

Permitted, though caution is advised. Full compliance with risk limits must be maintained during volatile conditions.

Article 16 – Account Reset

Account resets are not allowed. Traders must manage their positions within all risk parameters.

Section 4 – Profit Withdrawal, Payments & Financial Terms

Article 17 – Profit Withdrawals

Withdrawals are only available on funded accounts, processed monthly and subject to account-specific conditions. Compliance with all trading rules is required.

Article 18 – Payment Methods

Users may receive or pay funds via their preferred method, including cryptocurrency, bank transfer, or electronic payment systems.

Article 19 – Purchasing New Accounts with Profits

Traders may use profits from funded accounts to purchase new accounts or join other PropXpro programs.

Article 20 – Evaluation Fee Refund

If a trader passes the evaluation and receives a funded account, the initial registration fee is refunded.

Article 21 – Crypto Payments

Crypto payment is accepted for purchasing accounts or services and can be selected during checkout.

Article 22 – IBAN & Bank Information

For security reasons, bank account details are only provided upon official request to support.

Article 23 – Tax Responsibilities

Traders are solely responsible for declaring and paying taxes based on their country's laws. Consulting a tax advisor is recommended.

Article 24 – Fees & Financial Transparency

PropXpro charges no hidden or monthly fees. Evaluation fees, spreads, commissions, and other applicable charges are clearly stated in account specifications.

Section 6 – Technical Conditions, Accounts & Final Notes

Article 30 – Trading Platform

All trades are executed on MetaTrader 5 (MT5), a professional platform suitable for both beginners and advanced users due to its intuitive interface and technical analysis tools.

Article 31 – VPN & VPS Usage

Using VPN or VPS is permitted and recommended for maintaining a stable connection, especially in regions with unreliable internet.

Article 32 – Account Activation & Trade Start

The trading cycle begins as soon as the first trade is executed in the funded account.

Article 33 – Commission Structure

Commission rates vary based on the account type and trading instrument. Full details are available in account specifications or via support.

Article 34 – Account Inactivity

There is no strict inactivity penalty, but if planning an extended break, users are advised to inform support in advance.

Article 35 – KYC Requirements

Identity verification documents must be submitted during registration and before trading on funded accounts.

Article 36 – Multiple Accounts

Users may hold multiple active accounts, but each must be managed independently. Account merging is not allowed.

Article 37 – Affiliate Program

PropXpro offers an affiliate program. Users can earn commissions by referring others. Full details are provided on the website.

Section 7 – Special Conditions & Additional Provisions

Article 38 – Corporate Accounts

Businesses can open corporate accounts with PropXpro. Required documentation and prior coordination with support are mandatory.

Article 39 – Regional Restrictions

While PropXpro aims to serve globally, some regional limitations may apply. Users must review local eligibility or contact support before registration.

Article 40 – HFT (High-Frequency Trading) Policy

HFT strategies are allowed during evaluation and initial phases but strictly prohibited in funded accounts due to risk management and liquidity differences.

If HFT is used to pass the challenge, the evaluation fee will not be refunded.

Article 41 – Scalping Prohibition in Funded Accounts

Scalping trades — defined as very short-term trades such as opening and closing a position in under one minute — are strictly prohibited in funded accounts. This restriction is implemented to ensure liquidity stability and compliance with PropXpro's risk management policies.

Article 42 – Use of Bots in Funded Accounts

Using bots (Expert Advisors or any form of automated trading algorithms) is not allowed in funded accounts. Detection of bot usage may result in account termination, access suspension, and forfeiture of any profits.

Article 43 – One-Trade Rule per Symbol

Traders are only allowed to have one active position per trading symbol at any given time in funded accounts. Opening multiple simultaneous trades (either in the same or opposite direction) on the same symbol — even with smaller lot sizes — is strictly forbidden and considered a violation of PropXpro's risk management policies. This rule aims to prevent exploitation and maintain trading transparency.
